Legends of the Red Rose.

As to the origin of the rose there is a legend that a Jewish maid of Bethlehem (whom Southern names Zillah) was beloved by one Ham'ul, a brutish sot. Zillah rejected his suit, and Ham'ul vowed vengeance. He gave out that Zillah was a demoniac, and she was condemned to be burned, but God averted the flames, the stake budged, and the maid stood unharmed under a rose tree full of red and white roses. "Then first seen on earth since paradise was lost."

From other sources it would appear that the rose was first white, and the Turks say it was colored with the blood of Mohammed and will never suffer the flower to lie on the ground, while, contrary to this, the Greeks hold that it derived its color from the blood of Venus when she trod on a thorn of the white thorn when going to the assistance of the dying Adonis.

Pulmonary tuberculosis is being treated by a Danish physician with air that has been subjected to the action of ultraviolet rays, which seems to have a healing effect when inhaled through the mouth.

YOUTH DIES ON A SNOWSHOEING TRIP

UNIVERSITY STUDENT COLLAPSES WHEN SKIING WITH COMPANIONS

Harold Grinstead, a freshman in the college of engineering at the State University, died of exhaustion while on a skiing trip at Allen creek, about twelve miles from Reno in the mountains.

Grinstead registered at the university from Colusa, Cal. Saturday afternoon, in company with Dick Gassoway and a number of other college men, he started out on a skiing expedition, making the trip on snowshoes. About seven miles from town or a mile from his destination he commenced to show signs of exhaustion, and the other members of the party helped him along. In the last half mile he was so weak that it was necessary for his companions to carry him bodily. Soon after arriving at Allen creek he became unconscious and the boys worked over him until 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning when it was apparent to them that he was dead.

W. T. STOCK'S MOTHER DIES AT SILVER CITY

AGED WOMAN PASSED BETTER PORTION OF HER LIFE IN NEVADA

Mrs. Barbara Stock, wife of Wenzel Stock, and mother of William Stock of this city, a pioneer resident of Silver City, passed away at her home in that camp yesterday, and her death will be mourned by a large circle of friends in this vicinity. The deceased was a woman of sterling qualities and was greatly esteemed by all who knew her, being devoted to her home and family. She was a native of Bohemia, Austria, aged 75 years, but had passed the best part of her life in Silver City, dating from the early days of that camp. She leaves besides her husband, the following children: Mrs. Henry Goetz and Wenzel J. Stock of Tonopah, Mrs. Windisch of Silver City, Wm. Stock of Virginia City, Henry Stock of Silver City, Mrs. Roebaum of Silver City, Clarence Stock of Yerington, and 11 grandchildren, says the Chronicle.

Funeral services will take place from Masonic hall in Silver City, Wednesday afternoon, and friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend.

TONOPAH ENJOYING FINE WINTER SPORT

SKIING AND SLEDDING ON SLOPING STREETS A RARE PASTIME

European winter resorts, and our own Truckee for a that, have nothing on our very own Tonopah. We are sports, we Tonopah people, and the children, well, they are having gay times these days. Many chaperones too are out in sweaters and scarfs, warm gloves and gay caps.

Brougher avenue and Main street have been the scenes of much merry-making the past few days. Coasting reigns supreme. A finer track has never known to exist. The young folks start at the very top of Brougher avenue and never think of stopping until lower Main street is reached. What a long ride! This can only be realized by those who each day must go afoot from Brougher avenue to the lower end of town. Some sport for these cold, wintry days and some healthy sport at that. Besides coasting even skills were in evidence. No amateur either, a real professional is in our midst. So very much at ease that in the darkness the red spark from his cigar shown brightly as the skills carried him down the hill.

UNCULTIVATED ACREAGE IN THE STATE OF NEVADA

With a total of 110,690 square miles of surface, of which 869 is covered with water, Nevada ranks fourth in the assembly of states in size. This land is classified into three divisions: Alkali wastes, mountains and arable lands. According to government statistics, the deserts occupy one-seventh of the total area of the state. The mountains cover nearly four-ninths of the state's area. The 18,000,000 acres of arable lands to the total acreage of the state amount to about two-sevenths of the total. Less than 1,000,000 acres of this land is under cultivation.

BELMONT COMPANY TO BEGIN OPERATIONS

TONOPAH COMPANY IS SAID TO HAVE OPTION ON CARRARA PROPERTY

The latter part of last week, word was received by representatives of the Carrara Gold Mining company, on the ground at Carrara, that the Tonopah Belmont company would commence operations on the Bull Moose ground under the terms of their deal with the Bull Moose company, the details of which have not been made public, says the Obelisk.

According to unverified rumor, the contract between the companies calls for the general development of the Bull Moose mine, Belmont holding an option on a controlling interest in the property. If this is true, and there seems to be some ground for the supposition, it certainly looks like a bright future for Bull Moose ground which, in the last three years, has run the gamut of the successful mines from uncompleted sales to litigation—the last of which was cleared from the boards within the past two months.

The property was sampled on two occasions, once during the past summer and once in the fall by the Belmont field engineers, and, during the past month Belmont's field engineers were in the camp running out the lines and otherwise "picking up the loose ends." At this time, general preparations were made for the possible commencement of operations, which lead to much rumor and conjecture concerning the ultimate outcome of negotiations.

Living on Schedule.

The man who is living this life on schedule time deserves to be an object of pity. I know of one creature who is so precise in his appointments that he is actually living a month in advance of himself. You say to him, "Watchergonad tomorrow noon, Bill!" and he'll consult his little vest pocket engagement book and inform you that he is filled up as far as next Wednesday at 10 p. m. (meaning engagements, of course). Then you say, "I wanted you to lunch with me tomorrow at 12." "Let me see," says he; "I have a fifteen minute canceled engagement at that time, so I'll accept your invitation. Meanwhile you'll excuse me, dear boy, for I have a directors' meeting on at 4:22 and leave for Gloupluk, N. J., at 5:48, but I'll be on hand at 12 sharp." And he records it in his book. "This schedule crank has everything prearranged except his funeral, and if he happens to have a previous engagement I'll wager he'll disappoint the mourners by postponing that."—Cartoons Magazine.

Using the Expression "I Think." A man was referred to as one who in his conversation never says "I think" so and so. The "think" is a mere euphemism. A positive, clear headed man says what he thinks without saying he thinks. Besides, when a person premises with an "I think" it weakens his assertion because thinking is by no means an assurance of truth. If one should say "I think it will rain tomorrow" the very expression carries a doubt because mere opinion is a lame matter, and the world is chock full of opinions. If, however, he should say "It will rain tomorrow" it carries some assurance even if it is, after all, an opinion. So the man referred to in the first place doesn't say "I think," for it is entirely superfluous, and he adds force and dignity to what he says in omitting it entirely. And then when one looks at the situation calmly he will conclude that "think" is much under a cloud since very few people think exactly alike. There are ten thousand instances of this character.—Ohio State Journal.

Beauty in the Mexican's Voice.

Next to the love of dress, I was most struck with the fineness of the voice and the beauty of intonations of both sexes of the Mexicans. It is a pleasure simply to listen to the sound of the language before I could attach any meaning to it. They have a good deal of the creole drawl, but it is varied, with an occasional extreme rapidity of utterance, in which they seem to skip from consonant to consonant until, lighting upon a broad open vowel, they rest upon that to restore the balance of sound. A common bullock driver delivering a message seemed to speak like an ambassador at an audience. In fact, they sometimes appeared to me to be a people on whom a curse had fallen and stripped them of everything but their pride, their manner and their voices.—"Three Years Before the Mast," by R. H. Dana.

NEVADA LINCOLN IN ORE OF HIGH GRADE

G. S. JOHNSON AND ZEB RAY BRING IN SOME RICH SAMPLES

Several handsome specimens of ore were brought from the Nevada Lincoln mine by G. S. Johnson and Zeb Ray, who visited the property recently. One particularly rich piece which was extracted from the open cut on the lower vein was assayed and found to contain 14.46 ounces gold and 138.88 ounces silver, a total value of $364.69. The high grade from these workings is sorted out and will be shipped. In the meantime Superintendent Frank Wilson has a force of men at work prospecting two other veins, which outcrop near the top of the hill and which show good mill ore on the surface, says the Gazette.

A block of ground has been leased to A. Crawford, who has driven a drift from the main tunnel into his ground and is in mineralized rhyolite. Superintendent Wilson, who with Murray Scott discovered the Nevada Lincoln and has done a large amount of development work on the property, has 10 men employed and is bending his energies to the development of the mine to a condition that will warrant the construction of a mill.

The Nevada Lincoln mine is owned by the Nevada Lincoln Mining company, a Nevada corporation, of which Dr. A. Parker Lewis of Reno is president; Murray Scott, vice-president and T. J. Flynn, secretary and treasurer. These officers and Frank Wilson, superintendent and Zeb Ray form the board of directors.

VALUABLE COURSE IN MUSIC PLANNED

NEW INSTRUCTOR ARRIVES FROM EAST TO JOIN HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY

Miss Frances Gower, the new music teacher in the city schools, arrived yesterday from Emporia, Kansas. She spent the day in getting a line on her work, meeting the teachers, and preparing her daily program. This morning the regular work in music was begun and if Miss Gower's hopes are realized, music will become one of the most interesting and valuable subjects taught in our schools.

On Thursday evening Miss Gower will take her place in the high school orchestra as violinist and the members of the orchestra feel that she will be a valuable addition to an already creditable organization.

There has been a dearth of violin players in the school and apparently no one to teach those who might desire to prepare themselves for future places in the orchestra. Miss Gower is an accomplished violinist and an experienced teacher of that instrument and will be glad to give private lessons at almost reasonable rate.

An alto mellophone, a baritone and a B flat bass are new instruments that will be added to the orchestra within a short time, thus giving the high school an orchestra of ten pieces.

As fast as pupils show themselves sufficiently proficient in any instrument they will be allowed to join the orchestra or band or both.

TITLES TO PROPERTY ARE NOT IN DOUBT

The titles of the business section of the city of Reno are not in doubt, as has been reported. The Gazette contradicts the report recently issued in every particular. The article is based on an act of congress validating the right-of-way conveyances of this state. The act affects only towns built since the railroads were put through the state. Reno lands were all secured long before the first road was built across the mountains. Southern Pacific officials in Reno also contradict the report.

CONVENTION POSTPONED.

On account of the absence of President Patrick and Secretary Hogue, the meeting of the Nevada State Automobile association, which was to have been held in Ely the forepart of next week, has been postponed to a date not yet fixed. The Elks, however, will make their pilgrimage, but they are disappointed in not having the auto enthusiasts accompany them.

RENO GIRL INVENTS A HIGH EXPLOSIVE

Experiments which may vastly increase the strength of high explosives are being made by Miss Beatrice Rudawsky, a Reno girl, at the University of California at Berkeley, and she expresses the belief that within a few weeks she will have perfected her discovery. "Explosive D" is a secret American preparation now used for exploding shells when they strike an object. The detonator that Miss Rudawsky is seeking to perfect will create a terrific volume of gas when exploding, many times greater than that of "Explosive D."

The Good Old Times.

At one time in Rome political offices were auctioned off in public to the highest bidder. In ancient Greece theft was not considered so much of a disgrace as being caught at it.

Our prisons are not ideal, but we have made progress in dealing with crime. There were formerly fourteen offenses in Delaware punishable by hanging. In the early history of Connecticut lying, "that foul and gross sin," was punishable with five stripes at the whipping post and confinement in stocks; people were imprisoned in awful dungeons for debt. In Rome men were sold into slavery to pay debts; creditors could tear the body of the debtor to pieces, each receiving a piece according to the size of his credit.

Today is the best day creation has ever seen. For 2,000 years the Sermon on the Mount, like heaven, has been permeating the hearts of men. At last only that which is good can endure. The fires of time burn out the dross.

There is "one far off divine event, toward which all creation moves." It is perfection—but it is not here.—Leslie's.

BUTLER THEATER

The program at the Butler tonight will consist of a Pathe comedy, and a George Kleine production featuring Irene Fenwick in an extraordinary film dramatization of Porter Emerson Brown's celebrated play "The Spendthrift," in six reels. Mrs. Gretchen Jan, mistress of millions, failed. Her two pretty nieces, Frances and Clarice were taught to sew and mend, economize and retrench, not alone in clothes and money, but in thought and emotion as well. "Plug up the fountain of youth," was the harsh Puritanical code, and Frances paid the penalty with her heart-aches. Richard Ward fell in love with Frances, and when her aunt refused the parental blessing, the young couple eloped. Then into the life of Frances came the great change. A comfortable allowance didn't reach. Money ran like rays of sunshine through both hands. Richard could not keep up the gait. Credit weakened, the spectre of poverty grinned through the office door, but the riotous waste went on unabated. Then came the second man with his offer of money and the trail of suffering that followed in its wake. Come and see "The Spendthrift." Through six enchanting reels you will watch the lesson hammered home with a truth and force and a pleasant sense of reality; possible only to so accomplished an artist as Miss Fenwick.

Tomorrow, Pathe Weekly, and Vivian Martin in "Little Mademoiselle," a Shubert feature.
